

SASH19 The Dynamics of Interaction

Paper 2, spring 2011

Write an essay of minimum 4, maximum 5 pages including notes, but not including bibliography. Start with an introduction where you present your questions. Include examples from the literature and lectures. End with discussion, your ideas and conclusions.

Discuss the relationship of the the Celtic peoples and the Romans.

How did these relationships change when the Romans began to expand and the Celts moved southwards?

Discuss from the perspective of both the Celts and the Romans, with focus on the Romanization of the North-Western provinces.

Guidelines:

- Use 12-point script; write with 1 1/2-line spacing and normal margins.
- Your course literature is your primary source material, although you may use additional sources if you wish. All relevant course literature must be used.
- Use footnotes (stating author, year and page) and add a bibliography of the literature you have used at the end, even for course literature. You may use any reference system you want but you must be consistent. Keep in mind that if you use the web as a source, you must give the URL in full as well as the date you accessed it. All the relevant course literature must be included. Better too many than too few footnotes!
- Remember that plagiarism from any source is against the law and must be reported to the Discipline Board. Plagiarism is using someone else's information/pictures without giving a reference. This also includes information from the web.

The paper is due in class at the latest on April 14.

Good Luck!
